LAND AGENT,

increase of births and deaths owing to] physical and sanitary improvements, there was a decrease in the rate of mortality. During the first three months of the present year, English emigrants left their native land at the rate of 58 daily; about two thirds proceeding to the Australian colonies. There is another fact connected with the increase of births, viz: That the number of females is out of all proportion to that of males. Where are young girls to find husbands, especially now that, despite the Times, men have proved the impracticability of marrying upon an income of three hundred pounds sterling a year?

In the midst of this dilemma, so harrasing to politicians, and more so to political economists, "an infant Hercules" in the shape economists, "an infant Hercules" in the shape of a colony comes to the rescue; and that colony, described by the golden pen of a Times correspondent, is British Columbia and Vancouvers Island, the one the actual "Dorado" imaged faintly by the early explorer of the sixteenth centuary, the other the Seat of Government, the emporium of trade, the mine of mineral treasure, the Paradise which mine of mineral treasure, the Paradise which has long been crying out for, but has never been visited by practical farmers-men of the right stamp. Miners are amassing for tunes in those golden veins which have been flowing down from time immortal from the Rocky Mountains, and miners want wives as well as other people. Here is a bright idea, a gleam of hope for educated women, who in vain sigh alike in rich Belgravia, and in the wretched courts and allies of St. Gries' and Westminster, for men who will have the courage to propose. The English papers tell us that there is a college for the purpose of promoting the emigration of educated women; and it appears that a lady named Miss Rye, afflicted with the caccethes seribendi, is the head mistress of the college, or at least a leading graduate. Miss Rye, or some other lady, is about to favor us with a large supply of eligible females, who will possess in addition to all other lady-like accomplishments, the peculiar attractions of flowing down from time immortal from the possess in addition to an other may-rice accomplishments, the peculiar attractions of the "Blue-stocking.". There were days when the arrival of a mail steamer at Calcutta, with its fair cargo imported direct for the marriage market, created a perfect furor among the civil and military departments of our Indian government; and the case of the most brillian powerlst is required. pen of the most brilliant novelist is required to portray the glowing seene laintly shadow-ed down the vista of lagging months, to describe the rapturous meeting between our colonial youths, who are dying to turn Benedicts, and to quote Tennyson—

"The fair girl-graduates with their golden hair." Joking apart, we fear that merely educa-ted females will find that colonial life has its thorus as well as its roses. While we do not wish for a moment to discourage the settler, whether male or female, who ap-proaches our shores, we wish to state the truth, and to advise those who may be mis-led. The transmattivale bisingula thanks. The "comparatively leisurely life of a h colonist" is a sight which only exists British colonist" British colonist' is a signt which only existing the brain of British novel-readers, whose idea is tounded upon such works as Kingsley's "Westward Ho!" Mr Kinglake's "Token," Mr. Watburton's "Cresent and the Cross," and Charles Reade's "Never too Late to Mend." If an educated woman is one who requires a lady's maid to attend one who requires a lady's maid to attend upon her, who is too proud to answer the door-bell, and is far above performing her ordinary household work which falls to the lot of the housemaid at home, she will look in vain for a happy home in Vancouver Island, British Columbia or in any other colony. There is another question to which little attention has been paid: As regards schools in Victoria we are tolerably well provided for, and we are not sure that a new schools might not prove like a new Greek grammar, an unhappy speculation, if not a doubtful improvement, Whether in England or in the colonies, only wealthy families are in a improvement. Whether in England or in the colonies, only wealthy families are in a position to keep a governess. If the educa-ted females are only accustomed to move in high society, may not a more unhappy fate than that of a governess await them in this thriving colony? We never knew a man with matrimony in his eye who expressed any affection for "blue-slockings" in gene-ral, and are certain that however much we may prove the gamers, it will be a great fall for women of the giverness class to be comfor women of the giverness class to be com-pelled through shier hunger and want to sink to the grade of comparatively uneduca-ted domestic servants. The women we want in this and all other colonies are women no this and all otter countes are women prepared to rough it as well as ourselves, women who, white acting as domestic servants, the class we particularly lack, will possess all the fair graces of womanhood and the virtues which will make them an ornament to their sex, at once model servants as well as model wives. well as model wives.

Hope for Educated Women.

The Registrar General's last Quarterly Return of the marriages, births and deaths in England during the winter quarter that ended on March 31, 1862, is rather an interesting document. It is a true as well as popular doctrine, that the poorest men are the fathers of the largest families; and we are told that in 1861 the marriage rate quickened with the increase of pauperism. With the increase of pauperisms, there was a medical world. and which will probably cause a stir in the EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST :- The " Press " of yesterday's date contains an advertisement with the terday's date contains an advertisement with the truly apposite quotation from Shakspeure of the character in which the writer of that article appears, viz. as "Shylock," with the very AMLABLE and, if he be in truth an Englishman. CHRISTIA-Nike pro-fession of his principles: "It you wrong us shall we not REVENGE! it we are like you in the rest we will resemble you in that." Of a verity we may safely and rightly apply the words of Burns to this re-doubtable champion of the colored race, and say to him:

"Right, sir. your text. I'll prove it true, Though hereties may laugh; For instance there's yourself, just now, God knows au unco' calf."

I had hoped that after the observations made by Mr. l'emberton yesterday, some friendly arrange-ment might have been effected and better feelings induced between the parties, but it appears that the chivalrous Englishman will not permit this to be done, laboring, as he evidently does, under the dis-ease known as "cacothes scribendi" (for he boasts of paving for the insertion of his edifying commu-nication), he rushes into print, and reversing the Latin maxim-

"Fratrem facere ex hostibus,"

"Fratrem facere ex hostibus,"
he desires to make a foe of a brother by endeavoring excite and create bostile feelings and demonstrations between the English and Americans.
I cannot believe the writer of the article referred to to be an Englishman, but that he is some 'jay in borrowed plume,' and that fro a sinister motives he seeks to raise a prejudice against the respected proprietor of the Exchange Saloon through the claptape motives and that the respected proprietor of the Exchange Saloon through the claptape may be a supply that the respected proprietor of the Exchange Saloon through the claptape may be a supply to the french revolutionists and which led to the succeding butcheries under the sangulary rule of Robespierre. Danion and others, and is he deduced the supply of the supply that is this great insult? For which the supply that is this great insult? For which the supply with two Englishmen; he knew perfectly well that a teeling did and does prevail against supplying the colored race with drinks by certain portions of the community. Knowing this he goes to Mr. Lovett, and it he teels aggrieved by any thing that took place there he has himself only to thank for it. He was treated civily, and the mere relusal to supply him with a drink was in no way a vioiation of the English law write and the provision right the english got soldiers on tayern keepers for out all annalagous. There is an express provision in the English law which requires tuvern keepers to take in soldiers on the production of their biffet and to provide them with lodging grafts. There is an express provision in the english can the teels and to provide them with lodging grafts. take in soldiers on the production of their billet and to provide them with lodging grafis. There is no provision even there that they shall be explicited with drinks. With respect to hotel keepers being obliged to supply 't tavelers' with 'rerreshments,' that cannot be said to apply in the present instance. Francis was NoT a traveler, in the just or legal acceptation of the term, and if he really wanted rechmunes within a lew yards. The real secret of the case is that the colored race desire to rule the whites,—if they do no! why is there such an anxiety on the secret of the case.

The real secret of the case is that the colored race desire to rule the whites,—if they do not why is there such an anxiety on their part for the white to serve them with drinks when they know that it is repug nant to the feelings, education and habits of a large portion of the white community to do so? Will the protessed liberal Englishman give his daughters in marriage to the colored race? may, will be even ask them to his table and allow them to put their feet u der the same mahogany with himself and family? I am sure he will not, but doubtless like others of his case—

But breaks it to the hope.

"He keeps the word of promise to the ear,
But breaks it to the hope."

The enthusiastic Englishman will, I expect, be found to resemble a very ardent, advocate for the abolition of slavery, (God forbid that I should be supposed to uphold slavery) who, after holding forth one evening to a crowded audience on t.e. miseries of slavery, was discovered at night contortably ensounced on a rocking chair, with three slaves attending on him (the luxurious wretch)—one engaged in fanning him, another in brushing his hair, and the third in washing his teet.

The writer in the "Frees" travels to Calliornia for an authority to eke out his case. I am happy and proud, as an Englishman, of the privileges which the following the control of the contr

House of Assembly.

MONDAY, JUNE 30th, 1860. House met at 3 o'clock, Present-Speaker Helmcken, and Messrs. Ring, Cary, Tolmie, Harris and Franklin.

The Sanitary Commission Bill was read a sec cond time.

House in Committee on the Fire Limits' Bill, Mr. Harr's in the chair. The Bill was read in Committee of the Whole, and adopted with but slight amendment as follows:

1. That from and after the passage of this Act no person shall erect any wooden building more than 16 feet high within the limits of that portion of the Town of Victoria which is described in the schedule to this Act annexed, under the penalty of £500 for each month during which is which such building shall be creeted or in course of erection.

2. Until the passage of an Act for the Incorporation of the Town of Victoria, the penalties aforesaid shall be recoverable in an action at the suit of the Attorney-General, and shall be paid into the Treasury for the use of Her Majesty, her heirs and

3. From and after the passage of such Act as last aforeraid, the said penalties shall be recover-able in an action at the suit of the said Corpora-

4. The person paying over such penalties may pay the same to such persons as may be appointed by the said Town Council upon the production of an order for payment to some person named therein, signed by the Clerk of the Council and countersigned by the Mayor or presiding Councillor.

SCHEDULE.—All that piece of land bounded by ohnson street on the north, the west side of louglas street on the east, the north side of Fort treet on the south, and by the harbor on the rest.

The committee next considered the Sanitory Bill, which provides that the Governor may appoint Commissioners to act as a Board of Health in each electoral district, whose duty it shall be to order the removal of any measure dangerous to public health. The commission for Victoria town public health. The commission for Victoria town shall cease to exist after the passage of the Incorporation Act. The Commissioners (who are to receive no pay) have power to enter and inspect remises on which nuisances may be said to exist, and to order the closing or purification of any essapool, sink, gutter, &c.

Pending a discussion on the merits of this bill, the committee rose and reported progress, and the House adjourned till Tuesday, at 3, p. m.

A WEAK CASE .- A young man named Henry Spence was brought before Mr. Pemberton yester-day morning at the Police Court, charged with day morning at the Police Court, charged with robbing the till of the Phœnix Saloon of the sum of $5. The evidence of the barkeeper went to show that during his temporary absence from the room, Spence passed through it, and immediately thereafter the money was missed. The evidence was considered very slight by the magistrate, but the accused having been before the court on a previous occasion charged with assault, he was remrnded for one day in order that enquiry as to his character might be made.

A BEAN FAMINE. - There is a great scarcity of beans in the San Francisco market. New Bayos are worth 15 cents per pound. Here they sell at 1234 cents; and a shrewd speculator on Wharf st. who professes to "know beans" (and no doubt he does), has in store 200 bags, or about 10,000 lbs. of the esculents which he proposes to ship below does), has in store 200 bags, or about 10,000 lbs. ef the esculents which he proposes to ship below on the next steamer and supply the famine-stricken San Franciscans at the highest market rate. The speculator, by the operation, would receive $250 advance on the Victoria price, which, deducting the steamers, freight, will leave him a clue profit of $200 by the transaction. Not a bad operation, certainly.

GREAT SUIT FOR SLANDER .- A suit for slande was entered yesterday in the Supreme Court, the damages in which are laid at £10,000. It is charged that E. B. Earles, of the Colonial Hotel, deed that E. B. Earles, or the Colonial Hotel, de-fendant to the suit, stated to several parties that I. B. Ring. Esq., who appeared in the police court as counsel for the prosecution in the case of Francis tr. Lovett, sold himself to the latter party, and took grounds against his client. The suit is therefore instituted by Mr. Ring to recover the sum of £10,000—damages to his professional character alleged to have been sustained from Mr. Earles' statements.

SOMETHING LIKE A BISHOP .- We are pleased to learn, from an anti-Church of England source, that Bishop Hills, now on his way to Cariboo, perthat Bishop Hills, now on his way to Caribeo, per-sonally visited the Lillooet Indian villages and vaccinated all the natives who came forward for that purpose. The Bishop, our informant says, is well provided with vaccine matter, and will similarly treat all the Indiansthrough whose coun-try he may pass. Great pity a movement of the kind was not inaugurated by Bishop Hills on this Island and the coast of British Columbia months avo.

THE EUCULETS .- This late powerful and warlike tribe, residing for centuries near Cape Mudge, on the west coast of this island, are dying from on the west coast of this island, are dying from small pox in scores. The way the disease first spread among them is this: For many years they have been at war with the Hydans, and espying one day recently a canoe containing four or five of their ancient enemies passing the encampment, they put out and murdered the occupants, and took possession of all their traps. The plander thus contained was divided among the thieves, and in a few days the dreadful disease broke out in the trabe.

BUN UP YOUR SHANTIES -Parties who con template erecting buildings on their lots within the district bounded by Johnson street on the on the west side of Douglas street on the east, the north side of Fort street on the south, by the harbor on the west, had best make haste or they will soon be restrained by government. Vide the Fire Limits' Bill, which passed the House of Assembly yesterday, and will become law so soon as it has gone through the Council and received the Given or the second of the council and received the Given or the second of the council and received the Given or the second of the council and received the Given or the second of the council and received the Given or the second of the council and received the Given or the second of the council and received the Given or the second of the council and received the Given or the second of the council and received the given of the second of the council and received the given of the council and received the given of the council and received the given of the council and the council and received the given of the given of the council and received the given of the given vernor's assent.

SADDLE FOUND .- Yesterday morning early, a pany's store found perfect health. a bay horse attached to a stump by the stirrup of a saddle. The porter relieved the animal by removing the saddle, when the latter darted away and was soon lost to view. The saddle remains in the hands of the porter for identification by the owner.

SADDLE STOLEN-A BOLD RASCAL .- On Satur day evening last Mr. Hardesty called at a friend's house near Beacon Hill, leaving his horse outside the door. When he started for home the animal was nowhere to be seen, but on the next morning the animal returned home minus the saddle. He had no doubt been stolen by some party whose principal object was the theft of the saddle.

CARGO SALE .- Mr. McCrea will hold the heaviest sale of general merchandise at his salesroom to morrow morning ever held here. The goods to be offered comprise the entire cargo of the bark Onward, recently from Australia, and consists of a general assortment of merchandise well adapted to this market.

FOR THE RIVER .- The steamers Enterprise and Eliza Anderson left yesterday afternoon for Fraser River with about forty passengers and a large amount of freight. They may be expected back to-day.

BURNED OUT .- The gunboat Forward's boilers are reported as wornout, a circumstance which, if true, will account for her protracted absence the west coast. She will probably arrive to-day from Nanaimo.

THE "PAINFUL RUMOR."-We mentioned about ten days ago the prevalance of a ramor that a whale boat on its way to Stickeen had been capsized off Cape Mudge, and several well-known citizens of Victoria drowned. Yes-erday we learned that the report is entirely without foundation-nothing to give even color to it having occurred. FOR ALBERNI.-The bark John Howe and

A French Will Case.—The Civil Tribunal of the Seine has given judgment, after five days pleadings, in a suit respecting the validity of a will made by a Madame Lamitte, disposing of property to the amount of nearly 1,000,000. The opining the case for the plaintiff, Madame Drout, a cousin of the deceased, M. Leon Duval stated that the testatrix, Mademoiselle Morin, was a native of St. Mards, in Champagne, where her parents prossessed considerable estates, producing together with property in Paris, a rental of about 30,0007, year. She was, unfortunately, of weak mind, but well disposed. Her parents dying scon after she statined her majority, the young lady came to Paris, and took up her residence at a turnished hotel in the Passage des Petits Peres, kept by a M Collinet. There she became acquainted with M. Lamotte, the master of a boarding school, in which Collinet's sons were being educated, and was ultimately induced to marry him, both parties having made a will, before the ceremony, bequeathing all their property to the survivor. The plaintiff's connsel tunintained that Mademoiselle Morin was in a manner forced into this ma riage to save her honor, and that soon afterwards she bitterly repented of it, and shut herself up in her own rooms, refusing to see any one for more than twenty years. All her intercourse with her husband and her servants was from that time carried on by means of letters, which she thrust under the door, and received the answers in the same manner. Her food, and whatever articles she wanted, were placed upon a table in an ante-chamber, which she never entered till she was sure the servants had withdrawn. Things went on in that way till 1851, when her husband died suldenly of apoplexy, and the Juge de Paix was called in to put the seals upon the property. All his cflorts, however, to obtain an interview with her were fruitless; she would not even see hm to take the onth required by law of the Individual lett in charge of a deceased person's property. From that time carried to the house, and

This treatment was continued until the 21st, when the symptoms of lock-jaw having nearly entirely disappeared, the dose was reduced to eight grains a day, and the remedy entirely left off on the 26th; two days later the patient left the hospital in success.

A Noble Thier .- A letter from Marvejois (Lozere) mentions an incident as having taken place in that neighborhood, in which a young nobleman, belonging to a wealthy family residing in that part of the country, is gravely implicated. The 10th Regiment is gravely implicated. The 10th Regiment of Artillery being on its march from Toulouse to Besancon, the Count de—, who was acis gravely implicated. The 10th Regiment of Artillery being on its march from Toulouse to Besancon, the Count de—, who was acquainted with the officers, from having made with them the campaign of Italy, went out to meet it, and was invited by the colonel to dinner at Canourgue, where the regiment halted. Immediately after the repast the count took his leave, under the pretence of being obliged to go by the dilligence which plies between Rodez and Montpellier; but had hardly left when it was discovered that the bag, containing the funds of the regiment had disappeared. Suspicion fell on the late guest, and he was followed to the dilligence which was just about to start. He was requested to alight, and being charged with the theft, acknowledged himself to be the author of it. The colonel thought it his duty to call in the assistance of the local gendarmes, and the count was placed at the nis duty to call in the assistance of the local gendarmes, and the count was placed at the disposal of the procureur. The count has since been admitted to bail, and has been sent by his friends, by whom he had been previously placed under interdict as a "prodigal," to an asylum in Paris.

The Prince of Wales and the Jews at Jenus Lem —Ten days after the arrival of the Prince in the Holy City he met by appointment, at the western wall of the temple, the Chief Rabbi and others of the heads of the Jewish community of Jerusalem. The Chief Rabbi appeared in his full robes, and with the insignia of his office as Hacham Bashi, which, being an appointment by the Sullan, confers on him great civil powers and authority. The Prince received the deputation in a most gracious manner, and after the ordinary formalities entered freely into conversation with the Chief Rabbi; of whom: he inquired if he believed the massive wall by which they stood to be a portion of the great master work of King Solomon. The Chief Rabbi's explanatory remarks in answering this question in the affirmative evidently impressed the pince; for he raised the covering from his head in token of the sincer veneration which he felt for the sacredness of the spot; and who can tell what associations of thought crowded on him at that moment, for he immediately requested the Chief Rabbi to offer up a payer his "mother, the Queen of England!" The Chief Rabbi then prayed aloud in Hebrew for the health of "Queen Victoria, and with great fervency, that she might long continue to reign, and with wisdom like unto that of Solomon. At the conclusion, all the deputation ejeculated "Amen, Amen." The prayer being interpreted to the Prince, he was greatly moved, and even more so when the Chief Rabbi followed this prayer with an invocation to the King of kings that the soul of the Prince Consort might rest in peace in the realns of extral bliss. The Prince, accompanied by the Chief Rabbi, then visited the synagogues, which were brilliantly lighted up and decorated as on a fectival, and were crowded to excess. Prayers were there offered up for the Prince, prince Altred, and all the royal family. At the first synagogue which he visited, the Prince asked to see one of the scrolls of the law, and he examined the sacred volume with great earnestness. The Prince the Rothschild Hosbita, and they held almost uninterrupted conversation in the Italian language. The aminodity of the Prince on this occasion was as conspicuous as was the deep interest which he exhibited in all that took place; and his most courteous demeanour throughout towards the Chief Ranbi and the whole Jewish community is creditable able to his heart and to his calightened mind.—Jewish Chronicle.

The Conspiracy at Milan.—The following particulars concerning the military conspiracy discovered at Milan, a few days ago, are given by the Lombardia, an official journal;—All Milan is is in a state of excitement, occasioned by the discovery of a reactionary conspiracy concered on a vast scale, with powerful means at its disposal, and which would have made many victims, had in not been providentially discovered. The horrible plan was to be put into execution this exening. Several soldiers, formerly belonging to the Neapolitan army, who were in the military hospital of St. Ambrose and Monastero Maggiore, had been provided with arms and abundance of money by the reactionist party, for the purpose of cammencing a brivand warfare in Lombardy. General Durando, accompanis dby the colonie of the Carabineers and several officers of the stoff, proceeded to the above hospitals at two o'clock after andinght. A minute search was effected, and upwards of 4) soldiers were arrested. It is stated that several monks and two nuns employed in the hospitals are implicated in the affair, and have been arrested. A military commission has this morning visited the barracks and other military establishments. The Persecerance of Milan adds that the soldiers in question are members of the camorra of Naples, and that they were endeavoring to introduce a similar system into the Italian army. The camorra is a kind of secret society for the perpetration of all kinds of netarious practices, which grew up and acquired great power under the Bourton rule at Naples, and is now very difficult to eradicate. Such is the tenacity of this society, that even under the present system it does not abandon those of its members who have got into trouble; and the Corriere Mercantile of Genoa states that several camortisti who had been arrested at Genoa some time ago used to receive pecuniary assistance even in prison from their brothren at Naples.

Excavations at Rome—The excavations on Mount Falatine continue to attract much attention. The immense quantity of rubbish which covered the pavement of the building erroneously styled the Temple of Apollo has been removed, and access obtained to the vaulted rooms below two of which are now quite cleared. The first, immediately below the Casine Farnese, appears to have been stripped of all its ornaments at a comparatively recent date, and then even different comparatively recent date, and then even despoiled. The walls are Albano stone, and the corner travertine. The researches of the depredators seem to have ended before coming there for, on removing the soil, many works of art were found. Among them may be noticed a torse column, ornamented with acanthus leaves, and having, instead of a capital, two pineapples connected by leaves; a thysus, in the form of a candelabrum, also surmounted by a pineapple and follage, and numerous fragments of a red marble cornier. The lold pavement of rich marbles has been carefully preserved, and all the objects found are retained on the spot and arranged for inspection, instead of being removed. A great number of persons visit this new museum, and are well repaid for their trouble, as all the articles belong to a good period of art. EXCAVATIONS AT ROME -The excavations

A CHILD SENTENCED TO THREE SIONTHS' IN PRISONMENT FOR POACHING.—At Mailstone, on the 5th, a child, named Charles Thomas, between nine and ten years of age, was charged with poaching and trespassing in pursuit of game. The gamekeepers discovered four snares, or wires, set in a hedge about thirty rods from the house of the parents of the prisoner, and accordingly watched the spot. About stro'clock in the morning of the the 20th April, they saw the childge along the hedge and examine the wires, taking the fourth one up. The prisoner's mother, the wife of an agricultural laborer, spoke for her child, and said he had gone out that morning in search of food for his rabbit, and seeing the string in the hedge he picked it up to tie the rabbit's food up in a bundle. The mother characterized the present information as spite to her, and told the keepers they were neither of them men enough to come and 'ell her that her child had been doing wrong, so that she might have corrected him. The bench inflicted a fine of £5 and costs, 1ls.; or, in default, three months' imprisonment. The poor woman said she had no means of paying such a sum, and made more than one appeal for time for payment; but the justices would not allow a day, consequently the child was taken off to Maidstone jail.—European Times.

TETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequalied as a tonic and invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs and of various kinds of lever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will retore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart tresl vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Biffers are the safest of all stimu lants. Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of in genuine dostetter's Biffers, and he will find it a cet tain safeguard to health

Bab Legs, Bab Breasts, and Ulcers.—
The treatment erroneously pursued in these cases, is to drive the disease inwards, thus making matters far worse than by allowing it to take its natural course, as it only breaks out elsewhere with an aspect ten times more dreadful than before. Holloway's celebrated Ointment and Pills, however, act in conjunction, the one-internally and other externally, and by the conjunction of these two inestimable specifics, all descriptions of external diseases are specifically and rapidally removed, even when all other means full.

Throat Affections.—From Rev. E. Rowley, A. M., President Athens College, Athens, Tenn.—'I have found great benefit from the use of "Brown's Brouchial Truches," before and after preaching, as they prevent hoarseness, to which I am very subject. I think from their past effect they will be or permanent advantage to me. Several clergymen of my acquaintance to whom I have given the Troches have been benefitted by them."

SAINSEVAIN'S WINE BITTERS; OR California Vermouth...These Bitters are obtain ing a wide-spread celebrity in all parts of the State.
It is sufficient evidence of their great merit to observe the large quantities shipped by our principal Wine Merchants to every part of the country
Sainsevain, however, like all other manufacturers of new and valuable articles, has to contend with unscruppious parties, who are introducing a spurious mixture purporting to be his Wine Bitters, which noxious compounds are put up in the same style of bottles, labels, etc. so as to be fore. Saines which noxious compounds are put up in the same style of bottles, labels, etc. so as to be fore. Saines had no titizens may be upon their guard, and that when they ask tor Sainesvain's Bitters, see that they get them. As pure Wine is destined to drive from use all alcoholic decoctions, so these Bitters will soon take the place of the adulterated preparations which now flood our market. Those desiring a pure and agreeable tonic should try Sainsevain's Wine Bitters or California Vermouth.
